

PRIVACY

POLICY

TRADERS
HOME

PRIVACY POLICY

The Company is dedicated to protecting any personal data that the Client shares with us. This Privacy Policy is intended to inform the Client how the Company guards and handles all of the collected personal information given by him/her while utilizing the Company's products and services. This policy applies to all new, current, and former client.

Data Collection

The Client is required to submit personal information that will be collected for business purposes. This is to evaluate the Client's financial status, eligibility, and identity, which are all needed in processing transactions and promotions. The information will similarly be needed when the Client asks customer or support services from the Company.

The personal information the Company collects includes:

- Identifications that show the Client's name, address, date of birth, social security number, occupation, assets, and income, such as passports and other similar identifications;
- Transaction data from either the Company or any of our affiliates; and
- Data coming from consumer reporting agencies. This can be the Client's credit history and other articles not associated with the Company.

Protection

The Client's data are only accessed by authorized personnel to conduct businesses that require access to personal information. This is to serve the Clients' trading account and further provide support and help achieve a specific transaction or goal.

The Company's employees are required to protect any personal data with utmost confidentiality. The Company upholds physical, electronic, and technical protections to guard the Client's personal figures.

The Company is not allowed to market and put any personal information for rent.

Sharing Information with the Company's Affiliates

As mentioned above, the Company can share the Client's personal data with its affiliates for business purposes. The Client has the right to refuse this since the Company does not own any of the collected information.

Disclosure to Non-Affiliated Third Parties

With the intention of supporting the financial products and services the Company offers, the Company may disclose the personal information indicated above with third-party service sources and cooperative marketers not associated with the Company.

These are:

- Financial service institutions, such as advisers, dealers, brokers, trust companies, and banks
- Firms under any agreement to execute services for the Company on its behalf.
- These corporations acting on the Company's behalf are required to keep the Client's personal information in utmost confidentiality.
- The Company may also disclose information if the law requires.

Retrieving and Reexamining the Client's Personal Information

The Company will evaluate any collected information to identify its accuracy and validity. The Company will notify the Client once the collected data were found insufficient, inaccurate, or invalid. The Company will ask them to resubmit a legal one that will undergo another evaluation to prove its validity and eligibility.

The Company strongly advises the Client to review the data before submission. If the Client found a need to correct, modify, or alter the provided data, he/she can contact the Company to for an update.

Trader Client Agreement

- The Client and the Company are the two parties bound by the terms of this Agreement. These Terms and Conditions will apply automatically to the Company and its authorized representatives, as well as the Client who will avail the services that the Company offers. In the terms of this Agreement, the Company shall refer to itself as the Company.
- The Client may not assign a third party to carry out his/her transactions on his/her behalf. Unless stated, these terms will govern the relationship between the Client and the Company and its representatives. The Terms and Conditions are applicable to all transactions done under the control of and by the Company.
- The Agreement will be enforced once the Client submits registration and opens an account with the Company regardless of being activated or not. By submitting a request for an account or registration, the Client affirms consent to the Terms and Conditions governed by the Risk Disclosure and the Client Agreement.
- the Company will not support a currency or assets' physical delivery in any trading operation's settlement
- The Client consents to any changes in the Company's trading conditions, as well as changes on its Terms and Conditions. The Company will announce these changes through the Site. The Company will not acknowledge any claims of misinformation.
- Transaction history may only be accessed by the Client through the Company's trading platform and would remain as the only source of account statement given to the Client. The Company may choose to arrange these transaction orders in a summarized form with the current data dated from the past three months presented in a complete and detailed form.
- The following documents will also be made available by the Company via its site for the Client's further reference:

Risk Disclosure

Terms of Use

Conflict Policy

Privacy Policy

CONTACT : SUPPORT@TRADERSHOME.COM | 00216 21 184 010